Structures

1985 to 2010

Bob Trubshaw

Buildings and other structures intrigue me, especially because of the possibilities of quite formal photographs.

The burnt-down furniture factory was at Rye Harbour.

The final photograph includes the Anthony Gormley sculpture called 'Sound II' in the crypt of Winchester Cathedral.

The first thirteen photographs are from about 1985. The rest are from 2003 to 2010, with nearly all from 2007 to 2009. Mostly they are in chronological order. The first thirteen images were taken on a Mamiya C220 6 x 6 cm camera. The rest were taken using Nikon DSLRs.

This photo book was prepared January 2026 and revised September 2026.
